Dear Friend of NWP,

You can make a difference when you donate to the Nicodemus Wilderness Project (NWP). Educating by example, inspiring conservation leadership among our youth, and preserving Earth's biodiversity and ecosystems are the mission of NWP and our award-winning program, the Apprentice Ecologist Initiative™.

This program engages youth volunteers, including those who are disadvantaged and at-risk, in environmental stewardship projects that include beach, river, and mountain trash clean-ups; graffiti removal; wildlife habitat and trail restoration; native tree planting; nonnative plant control; establishing school and community recycling programs; and promoting conservation education. These projects span from the American Southwest around the world to impoverished regions in Africa, South America, and Asia. Since our founding, more than 17,000 youth have cumulatively volunteered over 119,000 hours collecting more than 280,000 pounds of trash, planting over 88,000 native trees, and helping to restore more than 28,000 acres of land for wildlife.

For each $10 donation, you can provide the mentorship for one youth volunteer and help support our educational scholarship program. Just $50 can impact the lives of five young people, the environment, and our world. What's more, for every donation of $50 or more, you'll receive a 100% certified organic NWP canvas tote bag—ideal for shopping to reduce the environmental costs of plastic or paper bags.

Make a difference to our youth. Make a difference to our environment. Make a difference to our world. Please make a donation to the Nicodemus Wilderness Project today. It will mean the world to all of us.

Thank you!

Robert K. Dudley, Ph.D., Director
